“It has been a great pleasure to hear Izabela speak at Ennovity's recent Innovation conference in New York City. As the conference's co-organizer, I greatly enjoyed her passionate talk about ways in which local, national, and global forces are increasingly connected in business development. Effective leadership, as Izabela demonstrates, means greater familiarity with how these processes interact. Her talk was empowering and extremely well received by our diverse audience of Fortune 500 innovation leaders, independent entrepreneurs and scholars of creativity & innovation.”
